Customer Reviews

There are Henna-Mehndi inspired 30 postcards in this set of designs. It seems to be a companion to a coloring book of the same name and is probably scaled down images from that book. While many of the designs should be fairly simple to color, there are a few that have very intricate and very small areas to color. I may color those with larger swathes of color or use my 0.28 Uni-ball Signo gel pens to get into the spots. There are lots of paisley and doodle style artwork in this set that should be a lot of fun to color with a wild assortment of colors. For my first project, I chose a flower which I was able to color with a variety of Bic Mark-it and Sharpie alcohol-based markers in the ultra-fine tip. The regular fine tip was simply too big to fit in the details. I will provide a more detailed description of the physical set below, but here is a quick overview: 30 designs based on Henna-Mehndi art work
Printed on one side of heavyweight card stock
Address and Stamp area pre-set up
Glue
Binding
Alcohol and water-based markers do not bleed through India ink pens and gel pens do not bleed through Coloring pencils work well but not enough room to blend The designs are printed on one side of very heavy weight card stock. It may be the best type of postcard stock that I have purchased for the purpose of coloring. The binding is the type of glue binding that allows you to pull one page off at a time without loss of any of the design. The book is thick and can open fairly flat but due to the thickness it may be easier to remove a card before coloring it. I test my coloring books and sets with various medium (which I will list in the comments section below).
